

On February 24 we held our quarterly Work Issues Committee meeting with Verizon management and Labor Relations. We discussed issues surrounding our call centers including headcount, absence, call volumes, OT, upcoming training and expectations for 2023. There is no new hiring planned at this time and they are still working on our wireless connection requests. As soon as I have more information I will share it with you.

Attendance at our monthly meetings is declining again. With all of us working from home now, it is more important than ever to stay connected. Please join us, get your answers from straight from us instead of listening to misinformation and rumors on social media! We'd love to see you!

Make sure you're taking advantage of our negotiated Work and Family reimbursement programs, there are many that will benefit your family.

In Solidarity,

Barb
